This week – clouds and wind

Have you noticed on your exercise walk that it has been very windy this week? Have a look up at the sky and look at the different shapes the clouds make.

You can make a textured cloud picture using puffy paint.

Here's the recipe.

$\frac{3}{4}$ cup of shaving cream

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup of white PVA or school glue

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup of flour.

Mix

Puff Paint Clouds
Weather Activity for Kids

You could make a rain cloud painting by sticking cotton wool balls at the top of your paper and then 'dripping or blowing' blue water paint.

See URL link to watch a video clip of some children making this picture:-

Have you noticed that lots of the tree blossom seeds in Prestonville have been blown around by the wind and are lying on the pavement? Can a grown-up scoop up some of the (clean) seeds and then help you to stick them on a picture?

Have fun making clouds and using wind in your art this week.
